

Date: 1982

Author: Carolyn Dailey

Category: Other communication with John Fetzer

L.D.

1/29/82

Dear friends,

This has been quite a week since our experiment began. First of all, I want to thank you all for your prayers and meditations in behalf of myself since my heaviness of heart has lifted and I know you all had a share in it.

On Tuesday morning I meditated at 6:45 and my message was "Be yourself, do nothing." As you recall my meeting with Sister Liz and Larry was to be that evening. Later in the morning I talked to Mike and he meditated at about 7:10 and his message was, "Lynne has to write." That made sense to me since it has always been easier for me to express myself in the written word instead of verbally. So here I am writing my experiences in hopes that this will be helpful for the group.

Sister Liz was to meet me here at the station about 5:45, so about 5:40 I was getting pretty nervous and so I went to level again asking for guidance in this situation and again I was told, "You need do nothing." So I stayed at level for about five minutes and felt very peaceful about it knowing that the dialog would be primarily between Larry and the good sister, and that indeed I just had to be there.

I am going to share some of his concerns because I feel that many, many people will have the same concerns and questions. The first psychic he ever met was Olga Worrall who was in Kalamazoo a couple of years ago in connection with the New Frontiers Program at Kalamazoo College. We went to dinner with her and some friends when she was here and of course, she talked about many things of the non-physical world. She can "see" dead people and she can heal people with non-medical means. Since Larry doesn't see he thinks all of this is a bunch of marlarky. Then there is meditation - what does that do to a person? What is happening? Who are they getting in touch with? Are they in a trance? Why can't they just pray? What is the difference between prayer and mediation? What about TM - what about all those pictures of the Maharishi that you saw around all the time? Was this some kind of a cult?

Then there came upon the scene a man named Jim Gordon. Who is this? What kind of person is this that can see prisms coming off someone's head? and predicts the destruction of the world in some year 2000 something from a dream he had when he was a child? What does all this mean? What is the Fetzer Foundation? What is my wife getting into?

I know this is a whole mouthful but these are the kind of questions we are going to be getting down the road. That is why we have to be strong and listen to our inner voices so that when the winds blow the roots of the tree will hold it up and the trunk will be able to withstand the winds and storms that will surround us.

I do want to add that Sister is a very excellent listener which taught me a lot. She very adroitly handled these questions and brought them into focus for Larry so that he might understand that the things we were talking about were natural and that some things of the mind he already does but has different names for it. She talked about driving a car and how a lot of times people are in the alpha state driving (like going home a certain way and not remembering being on a certain street). He could relate to that because he drives a lot in the Southwestern Michigan area and solves a lot of problems while he is driving. She also got around to dreams and how many people solve problems that way and he indicated that he does that all the time. So there again is a more "acceptable" way to relate to the ^{psychic} ~~physic~~. He also indicated that he programs himself before he goes to sleep about what he's going to dream about and if he dreams about something he doesn't like - he wakes up. I never knew all of this myself before.

So all in all, the meeting was very successful and the dear Sister charmed my dear husband around her little finger and he said it was all very helpful. She indicated that there is a difference between acceptance and approval, and harmony and uniformity, which I think is important. She is a very good teacher and one that will be of immeasurable help to our foundation. She is also so well versed in scripture that it becomes a part of everyday conversation and she is adept at parallels to everyday life and living. She used the examples of Thomas and Nicodemus with Larry. So this all has some significance to our long range planning.

The next day during my meditation I asked again how I was to function for the Fetzer Foundation and the message was, "Yes, you are to write. We will help you." So I could no longer ignore the message and for two days I have been pondering about it. The letter idea came up in my thoughts during the day. The last two days my messages have been more of a personal nature in ways that I can be of assistance to John with some projects that he is working on. The message is that I have to learn to be more open which is difficult for me to do with my reserved nature. (Difficult but not impossible)

Thank you all for your help this past week and I know that together we will succeed in this noble experiment and I hope that with this letter we will be able to help each other in this journey of personal growth and development.

Love and many blessings,

Jane Wynne

MARCH 1, 1964

Dear friends,

It has been difficult to get down to writing because I have so many things swirling about in my head. I have so many questions and I have not found the answers as yet. Maybe it has something to do with the opportunity of helping someone in need who was so desperate for love that she took the most difficult and treacherous path possible in order to gather together those who would love her. From a broadcasting executive who had his chief engineer design some electrical equipment which has proven effective in the Soviet Union, to a doctor who tried to treat her free because it was God's work to do so, to an attorney who on the day he was discussing her will sat and played the guitar for her also, to an 18 year old high school senior who went in every day after school for three months to clean her apartment and run errands, to another friend who sat in the hospital day after day to help feed her because the nurses just left the tray there and she was needed, to another friend who lent her her clothes when she became too thin to wear her own, to a 12 year old daughter who could have been with her father but who chose to stay until the end, and list goes on and on. Maybe this is part of the answer that all of us needed to be of help to someone in need. The lesson is Love.

The lesson the Miracle material teaches is unlimited, unbounded, unconditional Love. As Thornton Wilder has said there is land of the living and a land of the dead and the only bridge, the only answer is love. I would like to read a selection from "A Course In Miracles" which I read at her memorial service. This is taken from the Epilogue, Vol. 11.

Again, I thank the Lord for walking with me through another challenge, another lesson, another opportunity. "I am here to be truly helpful. I am here to represent Him who sent me. I do not have to worry about what to say or what to do, because He who sent me will direct me. I am content to be wherever He wishes, knowing He goes there with me. I will be healed as I let Him teach me to heal." ACIM, Vol. 1, page 24.

Thank you for your help and many blessings,

Love,

Lynne